Introduction

The Arthur Hoyt Scott Horticultural Foundation, Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Pennsylvania, USA, was designated International Cultivar Registration Authority (ICRA) for cultivar names in the genus Syringa in 1958 by the Fifteenth International Horticultural Congress [Nice, France]; John Caspar Wister was appointed Registrar. Royal Botanical Gardens, Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, was designated by the Nineteenth International Horticultural Congress [Warsaw, Poland, 1974] to succeed the Scott Foundation on 1 January 1975; Freek Vrugtman was appointed Registrar. In May 2019 the International Lilac Society, USA, was designated the ISHS as the new ICRA, with Dr. Mark DeBard appointed by the ILS as Registrar.

Cultivar names of lilacs validly published in accordance with the International Code of Nomenclature for Cultivated Plants-1953 (ICNCP-1953) in the following publication have been accepted as “Registered”, provided they were accompanied by a description, and provided they were documented as being in cultivation:

Lilac Survey Committee (J. C. Wister, chairman) of the American Association of Botanical Gardens and Arboretums. Oct. 1953. Lilacs for America - report of the 1953 lilac survey. Swarthmore, Pennsylvania, A. H. Scott Horticultural Foundation. This publication has been referred to as: Wister, Lilacs for America [1953]. See also: Anon., Lilac Registrations (mimeographed list), 1 [n.d.; ca. 1968].

Cultivar names registered since the publication of Wister, Lilacs for America [1953] appear in the following publications.

It must be emphasized that despite being registered and published in the papers listed above a number of names have never been “established” (validly published) in accordance with the ICNCP. For instance, if the original single plant from which a clone ultimately derives (the ortet) has not been propagated, its name cannot be a “cultivar name”, even if registered and published. Also, names appearing without descriptive information do not qualify as cultivar names. The use of single quotation marks alone does not indicate that an epithet is acceptable under the rules of the Cultivated Plant Code. For detailed information see the International Register and this Appendix.

Cultivar names, or varietal denominations, registered by statutory registration authorities are considered registered also under the provisions of the International Code of Nomenclature for Cultivated Plants (ICNCP). Statutory registration authorities work under the auspices of UPOV (L'Union internationale pour la protection des obtentions végétales or The International Union for the Protection of New Varieties of Plants). UPOV is an intergovernmental organization with headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland. UPOV was established by the International Convention for the Protection of New Varieties of Plants; the Convention was adopted in Paris in 1961. The objective of the Convention is the protection of new varieties of plants (cultivars) by an intellectual property right. A listing of Statutory Plant Registration Authorities can be found in an Appendix to the International Code of Nomenclature for Cultivated Plants (ICNCP-2016, 9th ed., Appendix II, pp. 88-100 ).

The two publications that contain most of the lilac cultivar information available up to 1990 are the Tentative International Register [1976] and its Addenda & corrigenda [1990]. However, in these publications no clear distinction is made between cultivar epithets that have been “established” (validly published) in accordance with the ICNCP, and epithets that do not comply with the Code.

The publications are:

Rogers, O. M. 1976. Tentative International Register of cultivar names in the genus Syringa L. Research Report Number 49, New Hampshire Agricultural Experiment Station, University of New Hampshire, Durham, NH, USA; supplemented by Vrugtman, F. 1990. Addenda & corrigenda to the Tentative International Register of cultivar names in the genus Syringa L. Contribution № 73, Royal Botanical Gardens, Hamilton, Ontario, Canada.

Nota bene:

Registration of a cultivar name does not override the requirements of “establishing” a cultivar name in accordance with the provisions of the ICNCP-2004.

The spellings used in these lists are the established and accepted cultivar names, except for registrations by statutory registration authorities using non-Latin script, such as Cyrillic and Chinese. Corrections of orthographic, typographic and transliteration errors, made subsequent to the original registration have been indicated. For additional information consult the entries in the International Register and Checklist of Cultivar Names in the Genus Syringa.

Canadian Ornamental Plant Foundation (COPF) is a non-profit organization that assists in funding new ornamental plant development. COPF has been providing royalty administration for its members since 1964. <www.copf.org>
